TICKET NUMBERING

Each printed ticket includes a free perforation and ticket numbering is available upon request. There are a few different options when designing a ticket for print. The following are recommended guidelines for designing a ticket to include numbering.

PLEASE NOTE:

These guidelines are provided to assist you in the creation of your ticket design. Submitted design files that do not meet these guidelines will delay the order and may be subject to additional charges. As always, 48HourPrint.com will do our best to process your order as quickly as possible.

1. Single Number, No Perforation

For Tickets with no perforation necessary, numbering will most likely be needed in one area of the ticket. A blank, white area should be left available or should be added to the design to allow room for numbering. The effective area should be approximately 1/4" x 1" (0.25"x 1.00") and may be placed anywhere within the ticket's safety area (As shown in example).

Safety Area (1/8" from Trim Area)

2. Single Number w/ Perforation

For Tickets with perforation and numbering on one side, the number may appear on either side, horizontally or vertically of the perforation with minimum 1/8" spacing between perforation and the edge of the numbering area. A blank, white area (1/4" x 1") should be left available or should be added to the ticket design to allow room for numbering.

Numbering can be set up Horizontally or Vertically
